Prunice Ananas

Put one pound sugar to one of quinces, cover with cold water, and as soon as it begins to boil, put in a little of the sugar, do not stir them, but press them down, under the syrup, remove the scum, add the sugar by degrees until it is all the the kettle, let them boil slowly until perfectly tender, pack in the jars, then fill up with boiling syrup, and seal.

Grape Jelly.

The wild grapes, gathered just as they begin to turn, are the best for jelly, cultivated grapes, if fully ripe, are quite likely to disappoint one, if used for jelly, the color is dark & unattractive, and the compound is often a syrup, rather than a jelly, but they make delicious marmalade. Wash the grapes, and free them from the stems, Put them in the Kettle, and mash them until all broken. Heat slowly, and cook until the juice is well drawn out. Then place a square of cheese-cloth over a colander, and set the colander over a bowl, turn in the grapes and let it drip without any pressure, measure the juice, and allow an equal measure of sugar, if wild grapes are ~~or~~ used, allow a little more than an equal portion of sugar. Boil the juice fifteen minutes. Skin
